THE HARTFORDS.

The Hartford Quartet was organized and coached by Ralph Dunbar, whofor years has been identified with the famous Dunbar Quartet and Bell Ringers and who is now giving his entire time to company organizing. No quartet which he has organized has ever gone out that has failed to reflect tredit upon Mr. Dunbar's genius and

The program of the Hartfords is song, yell and action of the athletic field and at other moments picturing the informal but more serious gathering at the fraternity house and finally closing with an exceptionally bright and captivating little sketch written especially for this company called 'College Days."

Monday evening, December 16. LEE FRANCIS LYBARGER.

On the western Chautauquas within the past three years Lee Francis Lybarger appeared on the same programs with Congressman Duncan McKinley and Hon. William Jennings Bryan. Both men were in his audience and declared his lecture to be excellent. He spoke on the "Power of the Trusts." Mr. McKinley, of course, is a Republican and Mr. Bryan a Democrat, and yet both were equally enthusiastic in their praise of the merits of his work.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Matters of Importance Considered on Tuesday Evening.

Excellent Instructors and Evening At the regular meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday evening a petition from citizens of Colerain, County Association Snake Spring and Bedford Townships requesting co-operation in a move-ment to have the Narrows road changed was read.

The road at present is so located and with such heavy grades as to be nearly useless for hauling purposes to the farmers of the townships pe titioning for the change and it is to the interest of every business man in Bedford to do what he can to se-

The matter of hitching posts and a and others was discussed and a committee appointed with instructions to secure a suitable place at once.

On Tuesday next the Board will meet the County Commissioners in regard to the building of the Juliana Street bridge.

Officers were nominated, who will be elected at the January meeting. The business men of our town should take a more active interest in the affairs of the Board of Trade. The remark, What have they done? is heard on the streets at times, but the person who does the talking rarely stops to ask himself, "What have I done to help them do something?" It is time that we wake up.

Council Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council was held last Monday evening with all members present.

Bills to the amount of $301.64 were approved for payment. Treasurer Davidson reported $38.50 received during November; paid out, borough fund, $516.84; water fund, $25.25; balance in water fund, $2,-68.60; borough fund, $2,153.84. Helpful Talks Delivered by Competent Speakers-Officers Elected-Display Apples Sold.

The sixth annual meeting of the of this week. Fruit Growers' Association of Bed-ford County convened in the Court House Tuesday afternoon. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. J. Albert Eyler, after which the address of the President, A. C. Richards, was delivered. In his remarks
Mr. Richards pointed out the necessity of awaking to the opportuntitles that present themselves and not place to tie horses for use of farmers merely rely upon the name "Bedford County" fruit.

A nice profit has been returned to the producer who has shipped fruit in good shape, hence the necessity of making shipments true to standards.

The crop in the county was short, hence the short display. There is always a demand for first-class fruit and we must meet this demand.

The Care and Training of the Tree was the topic taken up by Prof. E. R. Lake, Assistant U. S. Pomologist, Lake, Washington, D. C. He told of the planting of an orchard in West Virginia in very stony soil. The holes were dug and the roots cut back to four inches and dipped in clay mud. After the trees were set the earth ville. was tramped close to the roots. The trees were cut back to 16 or 18 inches. The next year they were pruned to three limbs to form the top of the tree. The speaker, in response to a query, said fall planting is decidedly preferable to spring, and also advocated the use of one year old trees. W. J. Lewis of Pittston then took up the topic-Sod Mulch vs. Cultivation for Apples. In the course of his remarks he said, we must store up water by some process and sod is Ella M nature's method; cultivation is man's. The sod mulch is the cheaper. Grow clover and timothy and mow several times a year, depending upon conditions.

A home-made fertilizer made as follows was recommended for orchards: 400 lbs. nitrate of soda, 400 lbs. muriate of potash, 400 lbs. ground bone and 800 lbs. South Carolina rock. Sow broadcast, 1000 pounds to the acre. Frequent pruning was recommended so as to avoid too great a shock at one time. A tree lowheaded may be more easily and more cheaply sprayed, and pick-ing from such trees is much easier. Missions in California-Santa Barbara, San Diego, San Francisco, Solano-Teaching Indians.

(It has been gratifying to know that some of the foregoing articles have found their way into the public school room in Lancaster County, and there read by the pupils and teacher as supplementary material to Geography. With this thought in view, the writer feels repaid for care exercised in securing accurate information on the subjects discussed. Here it may be well to mention that every item and figure has been accurate and trustworthy, each fact being a personal experience or one gotten from reliable resources while on the trip.)

Of the 21 Missions founded in the State of California, the Santa Bar-bara (Saint Barbara, Virgin & Martyr) Mission holds the most beautiful location, is the best preserved and most substantial, is the most extensive and most interesting. In the order founded by the Franciscan Fathers, it stands tenth, with San Diego first and San Francisco, Solano, last, the dates of the three in order being 1769, 1786 and 1823. According to the pious Catholic custom of placing every river, country, mountain, etc., under the patronage of some saint, usually the one whose memory was celebrated on the day of discovery, this locality was named for St. Barbara, the navigator Sebas-tian Vizcaino having entered the channel on the feast of the Virgin Martyr St. Barbara, as far back as December 4th, 1602. This navigator remained near the shore but four days, and on the feast of the Immaculate Conception, turned the point thereafter known at Point Concep-

On approaching the building odd in design, the first object of interest one meets is the old fountain built in 1808 and still playing. To the right of this, inside the fence, is the old lavatory built of cement in the shape of a huge bath tub. Here, in early years, the Indian was taught to take the evening bath as a part of the Christianizing teaching of labor and cleanliness. These structures were doubtless the work of the faithful Indian neophytes, who carried the great oak beams from the hills of San Marcos for the construction of the buildings proper. It is said that Chief Yanonalit, the ruler of the neighboring natives, proved friendly by contributing Indians to the Fathers, their labor to be paid with food and clothing.

Gradually the Indian population grew about the Mission. Homes for individual families were built and the neophyte's were taught the art of soap making, weaving blankets, making of clothes and necessary blankets, farming implements.

Time and again, the student monk, who served as our guide, referred to the great ambitions and labors of Father Junipero Serra. This Spanish missionary among the Indians, Founder and First Superior of the California Missions, was much disappointed with the interference in his plans by the Spanish Governor, Neve. Father Serra, who had already founded nine Indian schools or Missions, received the death knell to the cause when making preparations for establishing the tenth, that of Santa Barbara. Heretofore, the temporal as well as the spiritual affairs of the Indians had been controlled by the missionaries. Now the Governor demanded a change and required the Fathers to confine themselves to the spiritual interests alone. This heavy blow to Fr. Serra compelled him to refuse the establishment of his intended new Mission, and further-more, did much to undo what had been accomplished in those already founded and brought them all to the Closely following this disappointment, Fr. Junipero Serra died and Governor New followed closely after.

The new Governor Fages requested Fr. Fermin Lasuen to proceed with Father Serra's intended mission on the principles that had made his earlier work successful, and, awaiting the proper day as previously men-tioned, December 4th, the great Cross was planted on the rocky heights about two miles from the seashore, thus starting a Mission that has always been in the care of one or more Franciscan Fathers, even to

One would suppose these student monks, serving as guides, would tire of telling the story over and over to the hundreds of tourists who regard this spot as a sort of Mecca. But our guide told it with a modest pride. With everything so still, and no others of his class in sight about the place, one would also have supposed he lived a hermit, had he not told of it being the House of Studies for the Franciscan students of Philosophy and Theology on the Pacific coast. About 20 students in theology and philosophy were pursuing their stud-

The student would naturally ask,
"What did these missionaries actually accomplish?" The answer would be a lengthy narrative. The chief idea was to have the Indian know and learn the teachings of their Creator. But the class of Indians living in that state were of the lowest class in existence, so that it would seem trange at first thought why some other field was not selected by the rathers. Humboldt classed the intellect and morality of the Californian native as that belonging to the lowest species of humanity, and yet great results were achieved. During the first fifty years of Santa Barbara nistory, 4,681 Indians received bap-tism. Their ranks had been deprived of the so-called sorcerers, and Christian matrimony and burial rites be-reached the number 252, each har-boring an individual family. As each new applicant appeared he was initiated into the mysteries of house building. Their homes erected, means of subsistence were taught so that some became carpenters or masons, blacksmiths, horse herders, tailors, weavers, soap makers, tanners, cooks, bakers, saddlers, brick-makers, millers, etc., the girls being removed from the evil influences of the camp to the beautiful courtyard, were taught spinning and the art of making clothes. Before the existence of the missions, the Indians on the coast raised absolutely nothing. In spite of the crude implements designed by the Fathers and made by the inmates, farming thrived so that previous days and years of famine were forgotten. Averaging the products from those raised in 48 years, the Indian had to his credit about 3,600 bushels of wheat, 600 of barley, 600 of corn, 62 of beans, each year, with peas, lentils, horse-beans, grapes and fruits additional. To the work of the missionaries must be given the credit for the existence of the splendid fruits and crops produced in California, for all have been introduced by the Franciscans. The Indians previously raised nothing, not even the characteristic corn of the East. Nor was this all they were taught. records show that at one time 18,000 head of cattle, sheep, goats and swine were common property of a race that earlier were content with nothing. What wealth was accumu-lated in live-stock or other property was held in trust by the Franciscan, without a personal gain, for the Indians until such time would arrive, when they could control their own earnings, thus teaching thrift.

Unassumingly, the guide led the way up a narrow stairway of sandstone and cement into the towers. Here we could see the church roof covered with the tiles made by the The tower contained two Indians. old bells fastened by rawhide thongs to a beam of wood. Both these are tolled only, while higher in the tower was a more modern bell used for tolling and ringing. Both bells had the same inscription—Manvel Vargas Me Fecit, Ano De 1818 Mision De Santa Barbara De La Nveba California (Meaning they were made in the year of our Lord 1818 for the Mission of S. B., Upper California). A remark was passed regarding 'The Sacred Garden," where no woman is allowed to enter unless she be a ruling queen or the wife of the President of the U.S. This garden is the private quarters of the priests | Jured and pursued one of the assailand therefore closed to the public. But two women have been granted admission, Mrs. Benjamin Harrison and Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne. Mrs. McKinley was given permission, but illness prevented her acceptance.

Down the staircase and into the church we went. At least 125 feet long, this hall of worship contained valuable altars and paintings suggesting solemnity. Beneath the floor of this sanctuary lay the remains of five of the early missionaries, and the remains of the first bishop rest in a tomb under the floor near the Altar. Next entrance was gained to the cemetery, a plot of about an acre where lay buried 4,000 Indians. Here the wall of the church, destroyed by an earthquake, was shown to have been rebuilt to the thickness of eleven feet. The wall of the building in general was made of sundied clay six teet thick.

This garden was adorned with palms and flowers. A banana palm bearing fruit was no more attractive than the modest herb called Job's Tears, the seeds of which were strung into strings of beads. Story after story was given concerning venerable spots within the walls of that quaint old cemetery now closed to burial We left this bower of roses, geraniums, rare plants and trees with regret; a sensation of grave respect swelling up within invited the visitor to remove a hat as long as in sight of this holy sepulcher.

With nothing said regarding the treasures still stored within its walls, we move away from perhaps the only edifice in America that holds within, a portion of the true cross brought from the Holy Land. Due to the wickedness of a Mexican Congress, and the common enemies of a class of men loved and venerated by their Indian subjects with a degree of devotion approaching adoration, the land belonging to the once happy community of Santa Barbara has dwindled down to a few acres upon which still rests a structure, however, that will remain a fitting monu-ment to the beneficent missionaries.

THE SECRET TERROR

The haunting fear of sickness and helplessness is the secret terror of the working man. Health is his capital. Kidney diseases sap a man's strength and vitality. They lessen his earning capacity. Panic Averted by a Singer's Coolness There might have been a panic at the Empress last night. But there was not, and to the coolness of Will Oakland is due the credit.

Newspaper readers have heard of the bravery of singers and actors in the face of danger in a theater and how they saved the lives of thousands by continuing their song and act as if nothing was happening.

With a succession of thuds and stamps as if a thorough stampede was in progress under the stress of some terrible fear, every one in the orchestra stood up and half the audience in the lower part of the house made a wild rush for the door. Oakland's only change was to sing louder and the orchestra took the cue at once and played stronger. Clear above the babel of cries of "sit down" rose the voice of Mr. Oakland in "The Garland of Old Fashioned Roses."

With the ending of the noise in the gallery the crowd resumed their seats and those who had run out returned, and then, appreciative of the work of Mr. Oakland, the applause was loud and long and sincere.

Harry Pauli, a miner, had objected to going into the upper tier of the gallery, although the lower portion was filled. He struck Usher Curran and there was a rush for him at once. Curran's friends did not want to see him beaten. Pauli ran down the stairs and out. Later he was ar-

Pauli was this morning found guilty of creating a disturbance and let off with a fine of $10 by the police

Manager W. J. Swarts of the Empress theater stated that the action of Pauli was unwarranted, and that it was just luck that a panic did not occur, during which many would have been hurt, as the noise made by many people running down stairs after Pauli started those on the main floor, and then someone yelled "fire," which added to the confusion.

Pauli informed the court that he purchased a balcony ticket and was unable to get a seat immediately.

An Incident of Old Japan. 9 On March 24, 1868, an English minister was for the first time received with ceremony by the mikado, and the story of that reception illustrates remarkably the transformation of Japan under Mutsubito. It had been fixed for the previous day, but on his way to the palace Sir Harry Parkes was fiercely attacked by two Japanese swordsmen. So sudden and furious was the assault that nine of the eleven men of the escort were wounded. The nose of Mr. Satow's pony and Sir Harry's belt were cut, but Sir Harry himself was uninants. Mr. Freeman-Mitford "found him at the angle of the street with the headless body of one of our enemies at his feet." The other, a samurai, was degraded and executed; the reception came off next day, and the mikado issued a decree forbidding all assaults upon foreigners.

Creeping Salt.

Here is something in the course of natural phenomena that will interest and instruct the little folk if they look into it curiously: Into a tumbler half full of water dissolve just as much common table salt as can be held in solution. Let it stand for a few days and see how the salt creeps out of the water, up the inside of the class and down the outside-just like a thing of life trying to escape from its environment. And when all the salt is apparently out of prison the water remains as salty as before! It is a pretty demonstration.

Locomotive Engineer Has Remarkable Experience:

I have been thinking that word from me would benefit those who may be suffering as I was before I began taking your Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. I am a locomotive engineer, employed on the Tyrone & Clearfield Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Three years ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble so bad that I was compelled to lay off duty from my engine and was in the care of two doctors. However their medicine did not benefit me. One day I noticed your advertisement, to send name and address for a sample bottle of Swamp-Root. At this time my trouble had reached a serious stage, sent for the sample bottle and sent for the sample bottle and in three days received a small bottle of Swamp-Root, which I took according. to directions, and by the time I had taken the contents, I could pass water more freely. I was so pleased with my experiment that I sent my wife to the drug store of W. H. Milick, Phillipsburg, Pa., and secured a onedollar bottle. I continued taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root until I was entirely cured. Now whenever I feel any pain or soreness after being exposed to bad weather or hard work, take a dose or two of Swamp-Root. cannot recommend this remedy toonighly, especially to brother engineers who are more or less troubled with their kidneys (more than any other class of men). At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of; that 42 years since, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, I was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was a consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not recover. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy, which I used with splendid effect. I have been on my feet and at work ever since my cure. Yours truly,

Big Sunday School Parade—Hints on Christmas Shopping.

McKeesport, Pa, December 2. The weather has been cold and cloudy since I left the good warm stove in the library of 237 East John Street. At Cresson we had a couple inches of snow and at Greensburg the wind blew a gale that made one shiver as soon as he left the radiator or natural gas fire. Every branch of business was suspended on Thanksgiving Day, and I think the streets of the couple towns I visited bore a more sanctified appearance than on Sunday, > Next I came to Pittsburg, where Mr Hamm, who runs the Seventh Avenue Hotel, asked a number of questions about his friend, James Steckman.

The windows of the big stores and little shops are all bright and the crowds one meets on the streets hurrying along show that Christmas is not far away The woman is wise who is giving thought to her Christmas shopping, though she may not, dependent, and Battery "H," Third as yet, have to hunt the different stores. Do not, I beg of you, have a Christmas grouch. If anything reat once. Safe for children. A little lating to the festive occasion annoys you, drive it from your mind at once. Now is the time to see smiling faces! and not frowns. Some women put off until the night or two before Christmas the buying of their gifts and then they get the odds and ends and complain to beat the band about working themselves to death at this season of the year. Now then Christmas would be much more fun if we were to burn the list of presents received and given last Christmas and sing as we burned it Unwelcome is the gift that is a mere payment for one received last natal day. We should make gifts because we want to give pleasure to another and not because we owe it. What say you? Yours truly,

The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party

There are five in the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party—three gentlemen and two ladies. Much of their program is given in elegant and appropriate costumes. Some of these numbers are the best examples of humor and wit that good literature has to offer. Scenes are also given in grand opera.

The chief claim that is made for this company is that they present entertaining concerts of such solid musical character and fresh wholesomeness that they are sure to captivate the musical layman, while winning admiration from the musical critic of the severest type. As some one has truly said, "They have discovered just what most audiences want in the way of musical entertainments—some real good work in music and then some of the light and catchy, with a big allowance for humor and melodious rhythm." Their solo work is excellent, but their claim to recognition is in their quartet work.

It is doubtful if any other mixed quartet in America can approach the Kellogg-Haines Party in that sinking of individuality and perfect blending of voices that comprise ideal quartet work. It is heard in the singing of the foremost male quartets, but is unknown in mixed quartets.

Professor Charles A. Prosserm, superintendent of the New Albany

(Ind.) Chautauqua, says, "The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party have given, in the opinion of our patrons, the greatest satisfaction of all the musical organizations that have appeared at our assembly in the last four years." Many other similar quotations could be given if space permitted.

The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party will give an entertainment in Assembly Hall on Thursday evening, December 12. This is the third number of the B. H. S. Alumni Star Course.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin.

CONVENIENT TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES

The Pennsylvania Railroad, by main lines, branches, subsidiary lines, and connections, covers the Eastern country so completely that the people of almost every community may avail themselves of its facilities.

The lines reach the cities, the big towns, and the little towns, so that whether the impulse to travel be for business, pleasure, or social purposes, it may be satisfactorily carried out, as far as transportation facilities are concerned, by taking a Pennsylvania Railroad train at the nearest point.

Through cars are operated over the lines between all important centres of population, and an excellent dining car service is available at the usual hours for meals on the through trains. The all-steel equipment of the trains adds greatly to the security and comfort of passengers.

The spirit of the holiday season stimulates the wish to travel, and the facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connections appeal with equal force to the home-coming young folks and the migrating people of maturer years.

The comprehensive train service, apart from the local trains well known in each community, covers a wide extent of territory.

BETWEEN THE EAST AND THE WEST.

There are splendid limited trains between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Harrisburg, Altoona, Pittsburgh, and points in the West, notably Chicago and St. Louis. Included among these are the "BROADWAY LIMITED," the 20-hour train between New York and Chicago; the "24-HOUR ST. LOUIS," to St. Louis and Chicago; "THE PENN-SYLVANIA LIMITED," to Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, and Cincinnati; and the "CHI-CAGO LIMITED," to Chicago, Cincinnati, and Cleveland. These are all-Pullman trains and provide the highest grade of service. In addition there are a number of express trains to Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, and other important centres of the Middle West, which provide both Pullman and all-steel coach service. Among these are the "Chicago Special," "Chicago Express," "St. Louis Express," "Western Express," and the "Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Chicago Express."

TO THE SOUTH.

Those contemplating a trip south, to the resorts of the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, and the Gulf Coast, will find a number of fine trains between the important terminal cities of the Pennsylvania Railroad; and cars to the more important cities of the South, running through from and to New York, via Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. On January 6, 1913, the through Limited Trains between New York and Florida will be placed in service.

COMMERCIAL CENTERS LINKED.

An examination of the time tables of the Pennsylvania Railroad will show that practically all important commercial centres on its lines and connections are linked by through trains, through cars, or convenient connections, affording accommodating service.

Anyone who wishes to go anywhere should consult the nearest Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He can give all the information a traveler requires.

U. S. Department of Agriculture. Office of the Secretary. Washington, D. C.

The report of the soil survey of Bedford County, Pa., made several months ago by the Bureau of Soils, Department of Agriculture, will soon be issued.

The county contains an area of 682,880 acres, and is situated in the southwestern part of the state. Practically all the county lies in the Aptically all the county lies in the Appalachian Valley. The climate is equable and healthful.

The principal crops of the county are corn, oats, wheat, tomatoes and buckwheat, with considerable portion of the territory used for orchard, alfalfa, soy-beans and truck crops. Winter wheat is the staple money crop and is grown on all the soils and by nearly all the farmers, with an average yield of about 20 bushels to the acre. The corn yield runs as high as 50 bushels to the acre, while 85 bushels have been reported. Oats have reached as high as 70 bushels to thè acre. Buckwheat averages about 11 bushels with a higher yield of 25 bushels per acre. The potato crop yields from 100 to 150 bushels per acre. Practically all of the soils of tne county produce good grass with a good yield. Clover is generally grown throughout the county, with good, yields. Alfalfa is grown successfully on several of the soils of the county and develops four to five tons per acre. The oak, beech and hickory mainly make up the timber area of the county.

While truck grows extensively, there are some farmers who devote most of their time to truck growing He left his mother group of Moose, and fruit raising, and there is no reason why truck crops should not be more extensively grown with successful results. When well drained, the bottom land types of soil are excellent fruck soil. The most profitable truck crops of the county are asparagus, rhubarb, tomatoes, cabbage and onions.

There are several soils in the county expressly adapted to successful apple raising. The price of this land according to the report should, in 10 per acre. THAT BIG BULL MOOSE

By Damon Harvey, Clearfield, Pa author of "Send Him Back," etc.

A big Bull Moose-King of his herd.—

From down near Oyster Bay, With hay upon his horns, broke in Our pasture field one day; We'd never seen a Moose before So ponderous and so proud,

He bawled for other Mooses. He bellowed long and loud.

In Texas he was plainly heard, In California too,

The echoes reached Seattle-And up in Kalamazoo; They heard him in the "Pine Tree State,"

Down the Atlantic coast, Throughout the central sections-But in Western States the most.

We strove to drive him off-but lo Those prongs our wrath defied, He curved his neck and pawed the turf. Would not be pacified; Deserted them in June,

To gather up a winning herd Ere flowers ceased to bloom. He mustered up four million strong

A thrifty herd were they, And lined them up for battle-On the fifth November day; He's made big lions bite the dust,

Whipped "Tammany's" tiger too, But a little Jersey "Skeeter" Made him meet his "Waterloo."

MOZART CONCERT COMPANY.

The name "Mozart Concert Company" is coming to be one of the best known names on the Redpath list. For three years it has been a name which has appeared on announcements of hundreds of Lyceum courses and over a vide territory.

Audrey Spangler Mortland has been with the company three years. She has a delightful personality. She combines in her programs that rare gift of being both an excellent planist and In excellent reader. Pianologues are an important part of her program.

Isobel Jungerman, the violinist with this company, was one season with the Dunbar Singing Orchestra, later coming to the Mozarts. She is a southern girl with a charming stage presence. Her musical education was receive?

at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Alexander J. Spiegel, cellist, studied with Franz Wagner, the well known cellist, who was with the Theodore Thomas Orchestra for seven years. Mr. Spiegel has appeared before the Woman's Club of Chicago in recital work and during the past year has been playing in all the concerts given by the Bush Temple Conservatory of Music.

Eudora M. Brock, vocalist with the Mozarts, has a high lyric soprano voice. She is a daughter of a celebrated musician and has always lived in an environment of song. She was at one time first soprano of the University Ladies' Quartet of Chicago and later a member of the Chicago Lyric Quartet. She is a pupil of L. G. Gottschalk and sang the leading role with the Gottschalk Lyric Club in "Romeo and Juliet" in 1908.

> "Corn has been considered king, but these two previous seasons, with a shortage of rainfall, have proven alfalfa more productive. Corn having one time each season to make its crop, cannot compete with a crop having from four to six chances, as has alfalfa. Alfalfa has from early spring to late fall to make its crops, and its deep root system prevents drought from having any very vital effect on it. Its roots in old fields have been found twenty feet deen. seeking moisture.

Lesson X.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 8. 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xviii, 1-14. Memory Verses, 2, 3-Golden Text, Matt. xviii, 10-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The question of the disciples with which this lesson begins, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" carries us far back in the history of man on the earth, even to the suggestion of the old serpent to Eve. "Ye shall be as gods" (Gen. iii, 5). His own ambition is seen in Isa. xiv. 13, 14: "I will exalt my throne above the stars of God. * * * I will be like the Most High." The significance of the title "Most High God" is seen in the first use of it in Gen. xiv, 18-22, where it evidently refers to God as the possessor of heaven and earth. The great adversary's ambition, therefore, is to possess the earth and the people upon it. .

The late Dr. Weston said that the Bible is the record of the conflict between God and the devil for man and his inheritance, the earth. When people join house to house and field to field, that they may be placed alone in the midst of the earth (Isa. v. 8), on which principle all trusts and combines seem to be carried on, it is not difficult to recognize the unseen ambitious, wicked one back of it all, who offered to our Lord all the kingdoms of this world and the glory of them if He would worship him (Luke iv, 517).

The man will yet come, if he is not already in sight, who will accept this offer of the devil, and all the world will worship him whose names are not in the Book of Life (Dan xi, 36-38, 43; Rev. xili, 8). We need to understand this in order to be delivered from the ambition to be great even in the kingdom. He must be blind indeed who would desire greatness or power in this present evil age unless he could use it wholly for God. The lifeloug motto of every believer should be. The Lord alone shall be exalted (Isa. n, 11, 17). Not only on this occasion did the idea of personal greatness lay hold of the disciples, but just after He had the second time foretold His death they by the way disputed among themselves who should be the greatest (Mark ix, 81-34). On another occasion both James and John and their mother asked for seats on His right and left hand in His kingdom and glory (Matt. xx. 20, 21; Mark x, 35-37). Then again at the last passover, on the night of His betrayal, after He had indicated Judas as His betrayer, there was a strife among them which of them would be account ed the greatest-(Luke xxii, 21-24). He always taught them that genuine humility was true greatness, and, as to places in His kingdom, the Father had arranged all that, and we must leave it with Him.

On the occasion of our lesson He called a little child and set him in the midst and by an object lesson taught them humility and true greatness and also that to enter the kingdom one must become as a little child (2-4). A little child does not suggest innocence as its principal feature, for it is marvelous how early a very little child shows wilfullness and temper, yet I once heard a Roman Catholic bishop use these words about becoming as little children as a proof of the need of a purgatory, where we could somehow work off our sins until, as when we were innocent children, we would be fit for the kingdom.

The Scriptures, the reading of which the Roman Catholics do not encourage, teach us plainly that only the blood of Jesus can cleanse our sins and that His absolutely perfect righteousness, which He gives freely to all who receive Him, is our only fitness for the presence of God (Rom. iii, 24; v. 1, 9; I Cor. i, 30). A very little child is helpless, teachable, trustful, comes when called, as this child did. When we come to Him in our emptiness all His, fullness becomes ours, and then we become indeed His little ones, who believe in Him (verse 6), and He counts all treatment of such little ones as done to Himself (verses 5-9).

Awful indeed are some of the words in these verses and in Mark ix, 42-48, concerning the possibility of being cast into everlasting hell fire, but how blessed the assurance that this fearful place was never prepared for man, but for the devil and his angels; that the Lord is not willing that any should perish and that those to whom He gives eternal life can never perish (verses 5, 14, 25-41; II Pet. iii, 9; John x, 28). The ministry of angels is beautifully referred to in verse 10, and that they always have access to our Father in heaven, that they minister to us here on the earth, is taught by Heb. i. 14, and many other passages. It is blessed to be able to say, because we really believe it and know something of the joy and peace of it, "I am never alone; the Lord Jesus and the angels are always with me." In verses 11-13 we have what might be called a summary of the three parables of Luke xv. showing the joy in heaven over one sinner repenting. If we are not thus seeking lost ones, can we be said to have the mind of Christ? The incident in Matt. xix, 13-15, which is also found in Mark x, 13-16; Luke xviii, 15-17, of the little children whom daily. He took up in His arms and blessed and said, "Of such is the kingdom of God," when the disciples would have driven them away, shows us again His heart toward them and reminds us of Zech. viii, 5.

The first day (Tuesday) we went to Long Beach, where we spent a very enjoyable day and evening.

A little more than two years ago we had the pleasure of bathing in the Atlantic Ocean, while this day we enjoyed a similar experience in the Pacific Ocean, and as this was November 19, we found the water a little cooler than it was at Atlantic City during the middle of August, yet we enjoyed it very much.

At Long Beach they have one large ocean pier with a few places of amusement on the back end of it, while all their other entertainments are located along the beach, such as the Airship Spiralway, the Scenic en to different parties who were over Railway, and the Hippodrome, etc.

Why is a Columbia Graphophone a Musical Instrument and not a mere Talking Machine?

BECAUSE---

The sound qualities are so wonderful that when a Columbia double-disc record is used it conveys to the ear the actual voice of the singer, the actual notes of the violin, flute or other instrument, recorded in all their sweetness and purity, and as loud or soft as you desire.

Let me demonstrate these amazing facts to you on our lowest priced machine ($20.00) at John R. Dull's Store or at your home; no charge.
